The Economy Pillow Earthurn® Assembly Guide

The Economy Pillow Earthurn is handcrafted from the bark of the mulberry tree, and is eco-friendly from production through use. Beautiful and dignified, they are an ideal option for families wishing to honor a loved one with an eco-friendly ceremony.

Loading Instructions Wrapped with the urn is a biodegradable bag and cotton twine. Place the cremated remains loosely into the biodegradable bag and securely close with the tie provided. Place the bag into the urn and seal the urn as instructed below.

Designed for Water or Earth Burial When placed in deep water, this urn is engineered to float briefly, before gently sinking, and breaking down naturally. The time it takes to biodegrade will depend on the local water/weather conditions. All federal regulations must be followed when placing this urn in water. This urn should NOT be used in protected or restricted waters, nor should it be placed into the water from a beach or pier.

This urn is also suitable for burial in the earth. Once buried, this urn will break down over time. The amount of time this takes will vary depending on local soil conditions. As with water burial, please follow local regulations before burying this urn.

- 1. Gently expand flattened urn and feed strings through holes as shown, tabbed side first (one string on each side)
- 2. Fold side flaps and tabbed flap in, then feed string through outer flap
- 3. After folding in outer flap, tighten and tie the string off, then cut off excess string
- 4. Securely tie off loosely-filled biodegradable bag with third string, then place bag inside of urn
- 5. Fold and tie off remaining end in the same manner as the other side
- 6. Wrap optional decorative band around urn, hooking the ends together, completing the urn
